WHOLE NO. 1974.

ANOTHER DAY OF OCCUPATION

Invaders Dined On a Lawn—3000 Fed—To Leave This Morning

DINNER FOR 3000.

The Boys in Blue were more completely guests of the city Friday than on any previous day of their visit. The feature of their entertainment was a dinner. From 10 o'clock in the morning until late in the afternoon they roamed over the Executive grounds. Nearly three thousand of them ate till they were tired. There was an abundance for all. That the boys prefer Hawaiian coffee is evidenced by the fact that it took one thousand gallons to meet their demands.

The regulars were the first to enter the grounds. Then came the Oregon volunteers closely followed by the Californians. But one company was kept aboard of each ship for guard duty. Just before noon half the members of each company were permitted to go to the Executive grounds, where they remained over an hour. Then they returned to the ships in order that their comrades might have an opportunity to participate in the closing half of the festivities.

The bluejackets from the Charleston and the Bennington were also out in full force.

President and Mrs. Dole reached the grounds about 10 o'clock. The ladies selected to assist Mrs. Dole in receiving were there. The entire party took up a position under the palm trees, where they extended a hearty welcome to all.

The day was an ideal one. The entire festivities were confined to the King and Richards street corner of the grounds, the Officers' Club and the Executive building.

The men were fed in companies as far as practicable. The bill of fare consisted of potato salad, roast beef, roast mutton, turkey, chicken, ham sandwiches, watermelons, pineapples, mangoes, oranges, bread and butter, coffee, soda water, ginger ale, pie and cake.

Cigars and cigarettes were passed around at the conclusion of the meal. After feasting the boys loitered about the grounds listening to the bands and Kamehameha Glee club. Nor were they permitted to go about without an escort of townpeople. They were taken through the Executive building on up to the tower where an excellent view of the city was secured. The ladies did a great deal in making the day a gala one for the visitors.

The Senate chamber, Representative hall and Attorney-General's offices were crowded throughout the live-long day with boys eager to write a glowing account of their reception in Honolulu back to dear ones at home.

SAIL TODAY.

Between 7 and 8 o'clock this morning the first expedition to Manila will bid farewell to Honolulu. The Doric brought orders to Captain Glass of the Charleston and General Anderson to start the brigade as quickly as possible.

Captain Glass immediately gave out notice that the Charleston would steam out of the harbor promptly at 7 o'clock. Upon the receipt of this news General Anderson announced that the transport boats would follow the Charleston. The Peking will probably be the first to leave, then the Australia closely followed by the City of Sydney.

All the men having shore leave tonight have been ordered to be on board at 6 o'clock this morning.

The ladies are preparing to be on hand early and decorate the men with leis.

MORE THAN SATISFIED.

The Boys in Blue say that they will never forget Honolulu. It is their solemn declaration that such treatment was never before accorded any body of men. They assert the send-offs they were given on American soil do not compare in cordiality and generosity with the reception accorded them here. They have been well treated surely enough. Not one of the visitors has been allowed to pay for anything. Even those who used liquor have had practically carte blanche at the saloons. The uniform has been good for street-car and 'bus fare. It has been good in the restaurants, barber shops, bicycle livery, livery stables, soda water fountain and everywhere else. They have received gratis also all the fruit, cigars and cigarettes and tobacco they wanted. The dinner of yesterday was the culmination of the entertainment. They ate, rested, walked around and ate some more. Some of them dined, went to the beach for a surf swim; or went for a drive, then came back and dined again. Honolulu scored a triumph in caring for the visitors.

PART OF THE LADIES.

The ladies invited to assist Mrs. Dole in receiving the Boys in Blue, were: Mesdames Henry E. Cooper, S. M. Damon, J. A. King, H. M. Sewall, W. G. Irwin, E. K. Wilder, F. W. Macfarlane, J. F. Hackfeld, A. T. Atkinson, A. F. Judd, P. C. Jones, W. F. Allen, J. B. Atherton, M. C. Widdifield, Alice Hastings, John Ena, Bruce Cartwright, Charles L. Carter, George W. Smith, C. B. Wood, J. F. Soper, George Smithies, John Wright, Lady Robert Herron, J. H. Fisher, H. A. Isenberg, W. P. Boyd, Henry P. Baldwin, James Campbell, W. W. Hall, J. G. Spencer, Alex. Mackintosh, C. Hedemann, B. F. Dillingham, Frank Damon, C. P. Lauka, Mrs. Mist and Miss Victoria Ward.

Mrs. A. J. Fuller was at the head of the Ladies' Committee which fed the multitude yesterday. Her able assistants on the Commissary Committee included Mrs. J. H. Paty, Miss Kate Gray, Mrs. Winterhalter, Mrs. Ballou, Mrs. A. E. Murphy, Mrs. J. M. Holt, Mrs. Sarah Gilman, Mrs. E. W. Jordan, Mrs. H. E. Waity, Mrs. Kenake, Mrs. C. B. Wood, Mrs. A. F. Judd, Miss Clara Fuller, Mrs. Lederer, Mrs. F. R. Day, Mrs. T. F. Lansing, Mrs. Lawrence, Mrs. James F. Morgan, Mrs. C. L. Crabbe, Mesdames Harry Lewis, J. Drew, E. A. Jones, A. S. Humphreys, F. B. McStocker, H. F. Wichman, A. Wood and Lyle.

Mrs. C. B. Cooper was chairman and Mrs. F. R. Day secretary of the General Committee of ladies.

The waitresses numbered 150 and included the pick of the pretty young ladies of the town.

FAKE, AS USUAL.

A sensational story published in a little extra of an evening paper to the effect that a half-Spaniard had been arrested and thrown into the guard house for attempting to blow up the Peking by attaching a fuse to the magazines, is pronounced as a fake, pure and simple, by Commander Gibson of the Peking and General Anderson and Col. Smith of the California volunteers occupying the Peking, and by the whole expedition and town for that matter.

Ensign Bradshaw is in charge of the magazines. He makes two inspections a day and no one else is permitted to go near them.

The fake was bitterly condemned by many citizens last evening. The officers connected with the expedition are indignant over the publication of such a story. One officer asked central to kindly deny the truth of the story to anyone enquiring over the wire.

The magazine in which is stored the ammunition for the fleet in Manila waters is guarded by ten marines who relieve each other from time to time. This precaution was taken as soon as the ammunition was stored away. The marines in question are picked men who have the utmost confidence of those above them on account of absolute proof that has extended over many years. Colonel Smith and Captain Glass say that on this account it is a matter of utter impossibility for anyone to tamper with the magazine.

Again, even if one of the marines should prove a traitor, it is not likely that the others on duty would prove the same and any attempt would be quickly reported. The officers aboard the City of Peking are very much put out about the story as it reflects upon their carefulness in guarding the interests of the United States and hence of the soldiers from California who are now on their way to the Philippines.

RAH, RAH, STANFORD.

The Stanford boys, of the Oregon and California Volunteers were tendered a reception at Sans Souci last night by Messrs. Wilson, '96; Whitehouse, '96; Sorenson, '96; Soper, '97; White, '96; and Scott, '96; and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

Covers for sixty were laid. Considerable trouble was experienced by the boys in obtaining liberty for the members of the different Companies, and were only successful after several visits to following officers: Brig.-Gen. Anderson, Col. Smith, Maj. Tildon and Sime and Capt. Cunningham and Miller.

"Brick" Whitehouse was toastmaster and the speech of the evening was made by John Switzer for Stanford. Those present were:

M. M. Tufts, '96, U. of C.; W. R. Farrington, '91, U. of Maine; Geo. Common, '96, Stanford; W. H. Soper, '98, Stanford; L. M. Whitehouse, '96, Stanford; Olaf Sorenson, '96, Stanford; Leslie Scott, '96, Stanford; J. F. Wilson, '96, Stanford; Frank Andrade, '96, Stanford; James White, '96; Sergeant Dittick, P. G.; Sergeant Thomas, '98, Stanford; Corporal Corbuser, '01, Stanford; Corporal Switzer, '98, Stanford; R. Wolcott, '00, Stanford; H. M. Brace, '00, Stanford; G. S. Brooks, '96, Stanford; R. C. Coates, '00, Stanford; R. W. Dodd, '00, Stanford; M. Elliott, '00, Stanford; Emmett, '97, Stanford; H. R. Fry, '00, Stanford; E. E. Grow, '98, Stanford; R. E. Gendery, '00, Stanford; R. U. Hartwell, '00, Stanford; J. E. Hicks, '01, Stanford; H. E. Leavitt, '98, Stanford; W. D. Potter, '01, Stanford; G. L. Reese, '00, Stanford; J. H. Stewart, '0, Stanford; J. R. Stow, '98, Stanford; J. A. Wardell, '01, Stanford; R. C. Westcott, '99, Stanford; W. R. White, '99, Stanford; W. A. Wrigley, '01, Stanford; J. Turpin, '01, Stanford; C. H. Smith, '95, Stanford; E. C. Southwick, '95, Stanford; A. Brandt, '98, Stanford; E. U. Townsend, '01, Stanford; Schenck, '98, Stanford; H. C. Thompson, '96, Stanford; E. Stansbury, '98, Stanford; Corp. W. C. Morrow, '99, Stanford; R. J. O'Neill, '97, Stanford; J. O. Watson, '96, Stanford; B. Kerrigan, '00, G. Pickering, '01, Stanford; Commissary Sergeant Chas. L. Dillon, '98, Stanford; Lieut. Bryan, '98, Stanford; Adj. 3rd Batt., Reese Jackson, '01, Stanford.

SANG A SONG.

During the forenoon the California boys, overcome with the hospitality shown them, broke forth in the following marching song:

"We are going to fight with Dewey
In the land across the sea;
We will whip the Spanish soldiers
And will make Manila free;
We will break the Spanish shackles
In the cause of liberty,
As we go sailing on—Cho.

Chorus—"Glory, glory, hallelujah,
Glory, glory, hallelujah,
Glory, glory, hallelujah,
As we go sailing on—Cho.

"When we reach Manila's harbor,
We will greet our sailors true,
And be ready to do battle
For the red, the white and blue.
The sailor boys will greet us
And we'll do some shouting too,
As we go sailing on—Cho.

"Our grand Old Yankee Commodore,
He raked the Spanish fleet;
With shot and shell directed well,
He forced them to retreat;
The Yankee boy behind the gun
Is awful hard to beat,
As we go sailing on—Cho.

"We will fly our starry banner
On old Philippines' shore;
We will teach the Dons a lesson
Which they never learned before;
That California boys are fighters
When they go to foreign war,
As they go marching on—Cho.

"When the Spanish war is over
And the Boys in Blue come home,
The Golden Gate will greet them
With cannon's thundering tone,
And the girls they left behind them
Will claim them as their own,
As they come sailing home—Cho.

This was most enthusiastically received and the girls who had been waiting on the Boys in Blue and doing all in their power to give them a happy time, got their heads together and gave the California soldiers the following stanza to add to their marching song:

"And the girls in Honolulu
In the fragrance of sweet flowers,
With the welcome of their voices,
Mid Oahu's shady bowers,
When we rested in their harbor
Gave us glorious God speed,
As we went sailing West."

Chorus same as in the marching song of the California boys.

United States Consul Doty of Tahiti, is in the city on his way to Washington. He rejoices in the fact that he will be enabled to convey a full account of Honolulu's reception to the army boys.

FORMAL WELCOME

Special Committee Address to General Anderson.

READ BY THE CHIEF JUSTICE

The Occasion and the Cause—Best Wishes of the People of Hawaii. Brief Response.

The feast was at its height yesterday when the formal address of welcome to the expedition was made to Brig.-Gen. Anderson, U. S. A., military commander of the force en route to Manila. The scene of the incident was the main hall of the Executive Building. Those present were Brig.-Gen. Anderson and staff, the address committee and a number of prominent citizens, Government officials and officers of the N. G. H. Chief Justice Judd read the address, prepared by the special committee, as follows:

BRIGADIER-GENERAL THOMAS M. ANDERSON, U. S. A., Commanding U. S. Troops en route to Manila.

Our city presents itself today in holiday attire. Our men have left aside their usual vocations to greet you and those whom you command. We offer to you, and to the American soldiers of your command a glad welcome in which not alone your countrymen of this island Republic join, but all people who dwell in Hawaii. The war of Independence and the war of 1812 we may look back upon as a family quarrel; the civil war lies happily in an almost forgotten past. In 1815, whilst the United States were in actual conflict with the mother country, before they had attained a slight part of the strength with which they have entered into this trial with Spain, they bravely undertook to chastise and subdue the pirates of Northern Africa. This war had been accomplished before England or France followed the action of the United States, but our present adversary refrained from meddling with those enemies of mankind. This was the first occasion on which the United States "carried the war into Africa." The present is the second occasion in which the United States have become engaged in a foreign conflict.

We feel—we know—that this war is not one of revenge. It is a holy war, to arrest the hands of an enemy that are dripping with the blood, not only of insurgents but also, of non-combatants, of the aged, of women and children. It is a war kindled to teach the Spaniard that a higher policy now sways civilized nations than that of murder, oppression, misrule and confiscation, which he has followed from the time of the conquest of Granada until the present day. It is a war to impress upon his stubborn pride that the methods of the Turk in Armenia and Crete, cannot be followed within the recognized sphere of American influence. You have the exalted and glorious task of assisting in this war of civilization, enlightenment and humanity against cruelty, tyranny and injustice from which the victims in Cuba appeal to our great Republic and to her alone for redress and protection.

"It is the cause that raises or casts down the soldier's courage
"Shame will unnerve his hands
Should that cause be unjust."

You take the field in a just cause, May success attend you, and a safe return, after duty well performed, be vouchsafed to you and those who you lead. In the language of our fellow Hawaiian citizens we call to you "We la ka hao"—Strike! the iron is hot! Remember that those who take part in this demonstration today will cherish a tender and hopeful solitude for the well being and good fortune of yourself, your officers and men. This is not a war of conquest; it is a blow for human rights.

May the God of Battles protect you and may He grant that after your mission is fulfilled you will follow the great example of our country's soldiers both North and South, sheathe your weapons, and show that you can be great in peace as well as in war! On behalf the Citizens of the Hawaiian Islands.

A. F. JUDD,
PAUL NEUMANN,
WM. A. KINNEY,
CECIL BROWN,
W. N. ARMSTRONG,
Committee.

June 3, 1898.

Gen. Anderson replied in a few words expressive of gratitude and pleasure.

This ceremony finished, Mr. P. C. Jones presented to Brigadier-General Anderson the members of the Sons of American Revolution who have their home in this city. General Anderson himself is the vice-president of the National Society in the United States and president of Oregon Chapter. It is needless to say that he was most glad to meet some of his brothers on this side of the ocean. General Anderson addressed the local chapter in the following words:

"It was upon my motion that the word compatriots was adopted by our Society of the Sons of the American Revolution as a hailing sign of fellowship in our work of patriotic endeavor. I have never used it with such satisfaction as here where your organization gives proof, that not time, nor distance, nor altered conditions can obliterate from the hearts or minds of the descendants of the men of '76, the love, honor and devotion which is their due. Truly we are glad to see, that, you have changed your skies, but not your minds, you who have passed over the sea.

"Caelum non animum mutant qui trans mare currunt." Now I realize as never before, that Washington fought, Franklin labored and Jefferson wrote not for thirteen colonies but for mankind. Now indeed we realize that Warren, Montgomery and Pula-ski did not die in vain, when here in this Ultima Thule of Freedom their memories are cherished, their principles maintained. The formation of your society has given the greatest satisfaction. We are not sure that your kind welcome is not given from force of habit as well as hospitality. Nevertheless it is highly appreciated. But I have talked too much for a soldier. 'Words to the heat of deeds too cold breath gives.' We have brought our banner of beauty and glory not to praise it, but to add to its galaxy of stars: the Southern Cross."

NOTES.

All badges of all kinds were sold out. The ladies did noble work yesterday.

Live sheep are still carried on the Peking.

Camera fiends were hard at work yesterday.

Some of the visitors called the luan "the lonic."

Troop ship hospitals are under awnings on deck.

The Peking will receive some stores from the Doric.

The Peking has most of the freight for the expedition.

Some of the ladies have calloused hands from carving.

The formalities of an introduction are tabooed these days.

The Australia took on a large quantity of ice yesterday.

The Custom House was a popular letter writing station.

The Government band will play the troops off this morning.

Drill will be held twice a day on all the ships clear to Manila.

N. G. H. officers would like to hire men to do their sleeping.

Fourteen of the old Oregon Rugby football players are here.

The City of Sydney is taking more than her usual quota of coal.

A good many Boys in Blue have enjoyed Y. M. C. A. privileges.

President and Mrs. Dole became very popular with the invaders.

They would eat awhile, then cheer, then eat and then cheer, and so on.

The clouds were kind, holding their moisture during the dining period.

The rush for free soda water at the Hobron Drug Co.'s continued all day.

The capacity of the Executive building grounds had been underestimated.

Sam'l Lederer has entertained a nephew and a number of other Boys in Blue.

Boys in Blue were delighted with the singing of the Kamehameha Girls' School.

Gifts of fruit were tabu on the troop ships yesterday by order of the chief surgeon.

Mr. Gourlay of Spokane, a one-time tourist here, is an enlisted man in the expedition.

Captain Ashley and Sergeant Chapman say they are ready to provide another feast.

Not a Boy in Blue was arrested. They are to be highly commended for good behavior.

President Jones had some writing tables in service at the Bank of Hawaii yesterday.

Now for the Monterey, China, Zealandia and Centennial. They will be along next week.

On the first morning out from San Francisco, the City of Peking brushed a school of whales.

General Anderson is always glad to meet a member of the Sons of American Revolution Society.

Frank Godfrey found a chum in Sergeant Frank Godfrey, a young banker of Roseburg, Ore.

Sergeant Rice is a whole committee by himself. Yesterday he was supplying the boys with oranges.

Prof. F. A. Hosmer sent from Oahu College to the troop ships a large quantity of reading matter.

Associate Justice Whiting of the Supreme Court has supervised the catering at the Officers Club.

"Young America" McCandless was a favorite with the Boys in Blue at the Executive grounds yesterday.

Chas. H. Ramsey met his cousin, E. Mercer, of the Oregon Regiment and gave the soldier a good time.

Said an Oregonian yesterday: "Portland and San Francisco were patriotic but Honolulu takes the cake."

The regulars were a sorely disappointed lot yesterday. They had fully counted on receiving their pay.

The Boys in Blue left lots of buttons in Honolulu. One man being reprimanded said to his captain: "Girls here the same as in Portland and San Francisco."

The two sons of Senator Rice gave valuable assistance in the Senate post office department yesterday.

"We're going to change the spelling of Manila," said a waggish Boy in Blue. "We'll knock 'l' out of it."

The Oregon boys say that they shall never forget the hospitality accorded them by the Oregonians in the city.

The showers of last evening were furnished by the town Oregonians for the special benefit of traveling members of the Military Lodge of Webfoot.

A large number of men were on the tower of the Executive building where they secured an excellent view of the city.

The shore leaves expired at 6 o'clock this morning. The men had to be on board their respective ships at that time.

The boys are raving over Island fruits. Mangoes, alligator pears, bananas and pineapples are the most popular.

Representatives Richards, McCandless and Kahaloilelo were kept busy as bees during the day looking after the House mail.

There are three men aboard the Peking whose mission is to resurrect the demolished Spanish vessels in Manila harbor.

The Charleston will speed about eight knots an hour on her way to Manila. The voyage will take from 22 to 25 days.

The Punahou pasture at the mouth of Manoa valley may be used as a site for a permanent United States of American garrison.

The contract of bleeding the expedition was too much for the Oahu mosquitoes. The pests bothered the Boys in Blue scarcely at all.

Geo. L. Dall, Walter Disney, Mr. Dunn and Chas. B. Gray entertained a number of Pythian Knights amongst the boys in Blue yesterday.

Andrew Brown was at the King street gate yesterday and saw to it that undesirable persons were kept out of the Executive grounds.

In the Senate Chamber yesterday, Senator Holstein did his part of the entertainment work. He was an able assistant to Postmaster Rice.

Col. Fisher, Col. McLeod, Captain Zeliger, Lieut. George King and other former Californians now here have many friends in the expedition.

On the Peking they have had three meals a day from the start. Breakfast at 8 and dinner at 4 has been the rule on the other two transports.

The island boys in the volunteer companies could be easily distinguished yesterday by the abundance of leis with which they were decorated.

There were very merry times at the Bungalow last night. The officers of the expedition are very well pleased with the treatment they have received.

J. B. Atherton, chairman of the finance committee, says there will be plenty of money so long as expenses are confined to proper entertainment.

The Kamehameha Glee Club was certainly a drawing card on the grounds yesterday. Their songs were heartily enjoyed every time they arose.

A. Nelson Adams, of Stockton, Cal., the musical author of the California Volunteers, distributed copies of his music to people of the city yesterday.

It is understood that some of the volunteer boys have been "restrained" for pulling off the brass buttons from their coats and giving them to the girls.

The Attorney-General's offices were thrown open yesterday to the visitors. An abundance of writing material and postage stamps were placed at disposal.

Said a Portland boy who is known to have an income: "Money is no good sometimes. I've had to polish brass for a 'nigger' cook to get extra biscuits."

H. F. Wichman had a caller yesterday in the person of Arthur F. Lundberg, head salesman in the jewelry house of Shriv & Co. of San Francisco.

Said one of the volunteers yesterday to a charming young lady: "We cannot proceed further. The whole army has been captured by the people of Honolulu."

Through the kindness of Wall, Nichols Co., the Boys in Blue were provided with pencils. Two large boxes were sent up to the House of Representatives.

Through the thoughtfulness of B. F. Dillingham, meals at Nolte's restaurant were served free to the visitors on Thursday. Over $60 were looked after during the afternoon.

One naval officer stated last evening that he was convinced that the Department believes that the big fight with Spain will take place in the Philippines. Spain seems determined to keep control there.

Sergeant R. B. Ellis and Private Ward Eaton of Company L, First Regiment California are newspaper correspondents. They held important positions with the San Francisco Sun-Set Telephone Company.

"Foreign Postage paid by citizens of Honolulu. American stamps will be good only when you annex Hawaii."

These were the words stamped on the back of the letters written by the boys yesterday. George R. Carter is responsible for this.

Port Surveyor Geo. C. Stratemeyer took care yesterday, especially of A. H. Clifford and Lloyd Spencer of the First California. Commissary Sergeant Clifford resigned a customs inspectorship at San Francisco and Mr. Spencer a clerkship in the surveyor's
